

Peggy dining table

PearsonLloyd

The Peggy dining table has been specifically designed for residential use. It features a refectory style tabletop with a loose tongue joint that joins the ash veneer centre of the table with the solid ash ends. A refined aesthetic is created through the elliptical shape of the angle support frame and the subtle rotation of the oval legs, which are linked to the top by a mortis and tennon joint. A sense of proportion is established through the consistent 45-degree angle of the leg to the tabletop corner. The Peggy table has a beautiful simplicity to it; a utilitarian design that is technically accomplished and resolutely functional. Made in the EU.
